OLD BUSINESS

Hutchison reviewed the Pandemic Recovery Tentative Plan to Reopen, as well as revised COVID-19 safety protocols for staff. At this time, there is no target date for Phase 5, which is the restoration of full library services and a return to regular hours. Akron Summit County Public Library Director Pam Hickson-Stevenson has been in contact with the Summit County Health Department for guidance on whether public libraries should plan to close if Summit County is elevated to a Level 4, or “purple”, Public Emergency. Environmental Health Director Tonia Burford advised that it would be depend upon the criteria for Level 4, and whether it required closures in other sectors. Burford suggested that libraries follow guidelines put in place for the retail sector when determining whether to remain open and what services are appropriate.

Hutchison reported the Barberton City School District’s Board of Education approved the library’s 2020 tax budget at their June meeting, and that she attended their July meeting, where they approved the library’s levy for the November ballot. It was decided that an in-person meeting would be preferable for levy planning, and Hutchison will set a date for an evening meeting in the Reading Garden.
